

People Pleaser

Diana Searcy

Sherman Oaks, California

This piece represents me being pulled by my family in different directions with signs telling me what to do...and I am stuck. I do not want to disappoint anyone, as this is my biggest fear. Art is important to me, and I take drawing tools everywhere I go. I always want to be creating something. There is a lot of misconception about BPD and stigmas that go with the diagnosis. I am proud to be a part of the community that strives for awareness. It is my art that gives me positive purpose and direction
